Our team of caring, certified, experienced speech language pathologists is led by nationally recognized PROMPT® INSTITUTE instructor Joanne Hinchman-Giuffre, M.A., CCC-SLP, PCI, a pioneer in the PROMPT® approach in the tri-state area. Parents have come from all over the country seeking our expertise.

PROMPT® has been cited in studies for children and adults with Autism, Apraxia, Dyspraxia, Hearing Impairment and other speech and language disorders as an effective treatment modality.

At the heart of what we do is our commitment to the child, celebrating their individualism and passionately guiding them to attainable goals. We embrace a family-centered approach often including parents, siblings, and teachers. We provide an environment in which children can achieve an optimal sensory state for emotional and affective involvement in the session.
PROMPT® is a treatment protocol that uses TOUCH to facilitate coordinated movement patterns for better production of oral language. This motor-based approach has been used to help many adults and children overcome speech disabilities. We often hear a child’s first words in our office.

The PROMPT® System is designed to address the physical/sensory, social/emotional, and cognitive/linguistic domains of communication. Since the ultimate goal is interactive communication, we use relationship-based approaches such as DIR (Floortime) and Son-Rise.

At Miracles in Communication, small group sessions are designed to enhance communication among siblings and peers.

Workshops are offered to promote collaboration among parents and professionals in order to reach the same communication goals for our clients.

We are also happy to provide presentations to facilitate an understanding of Speech and Language as well as PROMPT® within the community.
